

Liz Blossom
Senior Consultant

Liz's talent lies in unlocking individuals' leadership potential in both their work and life. She is a fully trained coach (CTI) and uses her skills as a coach to get the best from people both in group and one to one situations.

Her energy and enthusiasm is infectious, yet she challenges her clients rigorously, ensuring that they gain the greatest possible learning and growth.

Liz joined LIW in Australia in 2000 and returned to the UK in 2002 bringing valuable worldwide experience to her clients here.

Prior to LIW, gained a Psychology degree and then embarked on her business career in Commercial and HR management for Marks & Spencer. Her passion for improving human performance grew when Liz moved to Accenture to pursue her career in HR where she was promoted through a number of roles ranging from recruitment to training and development to performance management and generalist HR.

Liz's blue chip experience equipped her with an excellent business background and a clear appreciation of the key issues and challenges facing business leaders today. Her experience as a Leadership Consultant has covered a wide range of industries including finance, engineering, consumer goods, IT and Telecommunications.