

Simon Bailey
Managing Director

Simon works globally with organisations in the electronics, technology, media and telecoms, support services and not for profit sectors. He has worked in the field of Leadership Development for over 15 years with a passion for coaching and a purpose to help people and places be better than they are today.

As an Infantry Officer, he led on operations and training in Asia, Europe and the Middle East and held leadership development roles in the UK.

Simon is a member of the Chartered Management Institute, an Associate Member of the Institute of Environmental Management and Assessment and an affiliate member of the Institute of Directors (IOD), currently studying for his Chartered Directorship. He holds an MBA from the Schulich School of Business, York University in Toronto.